

WANTED!!

Young male wanting to visit Perth, Western Australia who is able to pay us in support hours, rather than money for board and food (perhaps even the use of a car) for our fantastic 13 year old son. Tristan has high functioning autism and attends the local mainstream college (where my husband also teaches).

We also have two older daughters who live in the eastern states of Australia and get home rarely.

Tris would love an young adult male who could assist him to participate in community activities. We would estimate approx. 10 hours per week.

We live in the suburb of Como in Western Australia which is only 10-15 minutes drive from Perth city and are also on a bus route.

We have a large home with a double size spare bedroom, also have a swimming pool and large theatre/games room downstairs (our house is on 3 levels), plus have 2 cavalier dogs and a Burmese cat.

We are very easy going, my husband is a great cook and we would love to invite someone from overseas to come into our part of the world and share who they are and where they come from with us.

Tris is also very easy to get along with but he has difficulty making friends and tends to drift towards wanting to stay home to play computer or video games if we let him. He does play in a Sunday afternoon Yu-gi-oh card game tournament and does swimming classes on a Saturday afternoon but his friendships are limited and he would love to go to a movie and other outings with someone other than his parents all the time!

Perth is a great city to experience; our climate allows us to enjoy lots of outdoor activities including many water sports.
